研究課題		The Classical Tradition in English Literature
報告の概要	研究目的 および 研究概要	The funding is for this article, in which I argue that F. Scott Fitzgerald alludes to the ancient Greek historical figure of Berenice II in his early in order to associate the United States with ancient Macedonia. The point of the essay is two-fold: first, more generally, it demonstrates how although some readers have seen classical references only to mythology or Roman history in his work, this one is about Greek history; and, secondly, more specifically, reading his work in this particularly classical way demonstrates how Fitzgerald saw his country in terms of the quick rise and fall of the Macedonian empire. For this project, I will require many rare and foreign books. Those that cannot be purchased for whatever reason, I hope to consult at libraries abroad, which also contain manuscripts of classical works. As a result, some of the research money will be used for travel.
	研究の 結果	The overall idea seems to be working, but I often need to make minor changes as my research continues. Also, there is little time to write it considering all the pedagogical duties.
	研究の 考察・ 反省	I should ask academic journals whether I can publish this potential article as an individual chapter in a book that I am currently writing.
